

Two Navy Men Will Operate Mines If Men Agree To Work

By HAROLD W. WARD
Washington, May 22 (AP)—Two war-time naval officers took over the nation's soft coal mines today and waited eagerly for a sign from John L. Lewis that his 400,000 union members will stay on the job.

Government seizure—which raised the American flag over 4,500 pits—was announced by the White House in an urgent bid to keep alive the two-week strike truce, now set to expire Saturday night.

President Truman designated Secretary of Interior J. A. Krug, bulky 38-year-old former navy lieutenant, as federal mines administrator. To aid Krug, he assigned the hard-hitting boss of the wartime Seabees Vice Admiral Ben Moreell, who ran the oil refineries after a similar seizure step last year.

The lieutenant and the admiral (their ranks now good-naturedly reversed) went to work on their major mission at once—to avert resumption of the strike next Monday. After that comes the task of settling the coal contract dispute without shattering the government's wage-price policy.

Up To Miners
They scheduled a quick second meeting with Lewis this morning. At a preliminary session yesterday, the bushy-browed United Mine Workers' chief—obviously with the consequences of the Smith-Connally War Labor Disputes Act in mind—told Krug and Moreell that the question of working was one for each individual miner to decide.

But, Krug related, Lewis agreed to take under consideration a request for "support."

The new mine boss also met the operators yesterday shortly after he took over his new assignment. As Secretary of the Interior, Krug also is Solid Fuels administrator.

He emphasized at a news conference that whatever contract the mine administrators work out—in principle or otherwise—will have to be submitted to the operators before the agreement can be completed and the mines released to their owners.

Wage Demands Secret
Lewis never has made known his specific wage views. The operators have offered him the 18½-cent hourly pay increase won by the CIO-Steelworkers and CIO-Auto Workers after strikes.

Ahead of wages, however, Lewis has placed his demand for a seven per cent payroll levy for a union-administered health and welfare fund, which the operators estimate could net the union $70,000,000 annually. It is Lewis's most controversial point.

In New York an industry spokesman said yesterday that the seizure action indicated an understanding had been reached. Declining to be quoted by name, he said a three-way administration, presumably consisting of union, management and public, was likely to be created to handle the fund and that the levy might be between 1½ and 3½ per cent, capable of raising $17,000,000 to $35,000,000 a year. The wage increase, he said, would stay within the general industry pattern of 18½ cents, "or a little more."

Seek a Contract
Krug and Moreell told their news conference last night that they would attempt first to negotiate a contract "in principle." Krug mentioned that it might be necessary to stop at that on the health and welfare fund and mine safety proposals, with further discussions to work out details.

Krug said the government would know better what to expect by tonight or tomorrow night. This would include an understanding on Lewis' position toward appealing to the miners to remain at work Monday.

The union leader "made no promises, and we requested none," Krug said.

The administrator emphasized that whatever contract eventually is written will have to comply with the government; wage-price policy.

WITHEROW WINS AGAIN

Johnny Witherow, Gettysburg R. 1, turned in another victory for Springfield of the Ohio State league when he defeated Marion 5-1. The young county pitcher whiffed 10 batters and gave up seven walks. He also batted out a hit.

Wedding Ring Is Found In Garden After 30 Years

A wedding ring, owned by Mrs. E. A. Crouse, 140 Seminary avenue, which was lost about 30 years ago, was recently found by Robert "Buzz" Mitchell, Gettysburg, while digging garden at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell A. Campbell, 45 West Broadway.

Mrs. Crouse told a Times reporter that at the time she missed the ring she thought it had been stolen.

The ring was found to be in perfect condition and was identified through initials on the inside by Mr. Campbell. The Crouses formerly resided at the present Campbell home.

SEVEN INJURED IN AUTO CRASH TUESDAY NIGHT

Seven persons were injured, two seriously, when two cars collided head on on the Lincoln highway about one-half mile west of New Oxford, near the intersection with the Bonneauville road, at 11:45 o'clock Tuesday night.

Included among the injured were Charles and David Summers, and their wives, all of York. All are patients in the Hanover general hospital.

York Couple Hurt
Charles F. Summers, 61, York, operator of one of the cars involved, suffered chest injuries, including probable fractures of several ribs. His wife, Mrs. Anna Summers, 56, also suffered chest injuries, lacerations of the face and bruises.

Seriously injured were David Summers, 59, North York, a brother of the driver, who suffered a possible fracture of the skull, lacerations of the face and chest injuries, and his wife, Mrs. Verna Summers, 58, who also suffered a possible fracture of the skull, lacerations of the face, body bruises and chest injuries. Both are expected to recover.

Mr. and Mrs. David Summers were riding in the rear seat of the car and were thrown against the front seat. Flying glass from a broken left rear window cut the couple seriously. Oscar H. Benson, Gettysburg R. D., president of the Adams County Free library association and former National 4-H and Boy Scout leader, suffered a chest injury. Dr. Frederick Tilberg, Lincoln avenue, received a cut across the chin and Sneed Cliff, Hanover street, field executive for the Boy Scouts in the Black Walnut (Adams county) district and other nearby districts, suffered a wrenched back. Dr. W. E. Tilberg, dean of Gettysburg college, also an occupant of the Benson car, was uninjured.

State Police Investigating
Benson and the group with him had been in York attending a York-Adams Boy Scout area meeting and were returning to Gettysburg, they told State Policeman Robert E. Deitrich who headed the investigation into the accident by officers from the local sub-station of the state police.

Benson said he was driving about 35 miles an hour when he suddenly discovered a car parked on the highway directly in front of him. The car, he said, was without lights and when he saw it he said it was too late to stop without crashing into the rear of the parked vehicle.

Benson then said that he noticed the Bonneauville road almost opposite his car and hoped to be able to swing into that road ahead of traffic headed east.

He attempted the turn and smashed head-on into the car containing the two Summers couples. The cars, from the impact, tumbled into the south side of the highway, with the Summers' car running into a small ditch and stopping close to a bank. Both were headed south after the collision.

Parked Car Vanished
The ambulance was called from Hanover and all but one of the (Please Turn to Page 2)

CLINIC MAY 28 FOR CHILDREN

A pre-school clinic for children who will be starting to school for the first time next fall will be held at the Gettysburg high school building Tuesday, May 28, from 9 to 11 a. m. and from 1 to 3:30 p. m., it was announced today by Dr. Lloyd C. Keefe, supervising principal of the local public schools.

The clinic will be for children who have reached their sixth birthday anniversary before February 1, 1947. Dr. Raymond Sheely, school physician, will be assisted by Miss Kathryn Wagaman, school nurse, in conducting the examinations.

The children are asked to report at the nurse's room on the second floor of the school building.

Dr. Rhoads Reopens Office Here Today

In an advertisement appearing elsewhere in today's issue of The Gettysburg Times, Dr. John P. Rhoads announces the reopening of his office at 111 Baltimore street, known as the Topper building.

Dr. Rhoads was discharged last November after serving as a battalion surgeon with the 451st AAA Battalion overseas for 33 months in North Africa, Italy, France, Belgium and Germany.

For the last four months Dr. Rhoads took post graduate work at the New York Post Graduate Medical School and Hospital, New York; Western Reserve university, Cleveland, Ohio; Cleveland Clinic, Cleveland, and Cook County Graduate Medical School, Chicago, Ill.

Received a shipment of card tables, Raymond Home Furnishings, Center Square.

Lost: Pipe at high school, Tuesday evening. Return to Times.

Official Count Starts On Friday

Blaine Bushey, near Arendtsville and Amos Sheely, Arendtsville, have been named as clerks for the official counting of the ballots cast in Tuesday's primary election, the county board of elections announced today.

The official tally will begin at 12 o'clock noon Friday and at the conclusion of the count the military ballots will be opened and added to the list. Clerk Clarence C. Smith said five military ballots, out of the six sent out by the county election board, have been returned, but it was not known this morning just how many military ballots may have been cast at the various election districts by servicemen home on furlough.

FOOD SUPPLIES IN U.S. AMAZE ENGLISH BRIDE

The Littlestown Rotary Club entertained the letter boys and girls of the Littlestown high school sports teams at the weekly meeting Tuesday evening in Scottie's banquet hall. Mrs. William T. Timmins, Jr., Gettysburg, English bride of a Gettysburg resident, was the speaker.

Mrs. Timmins spoke on the activities of youth organizations in England, the differences between the English and American school systems and the conditions in England during the war.

"Every community in England has its youth center where dancing is held weekly and all types of programs are conducted for the young people," she told the group. Folk dancing is one of the more popular projects for the girls while wood-working is popular among the boys, she added.

With more than 200,000 houses destroyed by enemy action and with some 750,000 homes partially destroyed, the housing situation is more acute, she said, in England than in the United States.

Rationing Continues
"England is continuing into peacetime the food and other rationing that obtained during the war," she said.

"I was amazed," she added, "When I learned that one could go to a store here, and buy almost any type of food. In England one can only obtain rationed food. Frequently I stood in line for hours only to find that the supply had been exhausted before it came my turn to buy. Since (Please turn to Page 3)

Flags For Veterans' Graves Now Available

Flags for decorating veterans' graves in cemeteries throughout the county now are available at the county commissioners' office at the court house, Chief Clerk Clarence C. Smith announced today. The commissioners had considerable difficulty in locating flags to mark the approximately 2,300 graves of veterans of all wars in every part of the county—with the exception of the graves in the National cemetery where the National Park service provides the flags.

Veterans' organizations handle the placing of most of the flags.

BASEHORE AND SLONAKER WIN IN GOP RACES

Carrying 30 of the 42 voting districts in the county, Republican County Chairman John H. Basehore was re-elected Tuesday in an organization victory that crushed "New Guard" efforts and defeated Prothonotary Arthur H. Shields in his bid for the GOP chairmanship in this county.

Mr. Basehore, who has headed his party in this county since 1938, gathered 1,883 votes in a vigorous campaign that allowed 1,323 ballots to go for his opponent, Mr. Shields carried 11 districts and the two men tied in one district.

In one of the closest contests in the county, J. Frank Slonaker, Gettysburg, defeated Chauncey J. Smith, McSherrystown, for the post of GOP state committeeman from Adams county. Two years ago Smith beat Slonaker. The unofficial count for Tuesday's voting gives Slonaker a 69-vote margin. The totals are Slonaker, 1,577 and Smith, 1,517.

Narrow Lead for Vice-Chairman

In a contest that remained close throughout the night, Mrs. Esther Hayberger, Gettysburg, won re-election as Republican vice chairman of Adams county by a margin of 12 votes over Mrs. J. Alen Anderson, Littlestown. The totals are 1,289 for Mrs. Hayberger and 1,277 for Mrs. Anderson. The third candidate on the ballot, Mrs. Evelyn Swope Collins, Gettysburg, who announced her withdrawal from the race several weeks ago, polled 381 votes.

Mrs. Hayberger's margin of victory this year is almost exactly the same as that for her last campaign when she defeated Mrs. Collins by 11 votes.

Carl W. Kane, Franklin township, Democratic county chairman, was elected as the Democratic state committee member from Adams county without a contest. His total vote was 1,021.

Democrats will call their district committeemen and women together here next month to name a county chairman for the coming campaign.

Hospital Auxiliary Clears $1,098 On Party

The Warner hospital Auxiliary topped its $1,000 with its benefit card party at the Moose home early this month. It was disclosed today by Mrs. Elmer W. Warren, the Auxiliary's benefit chairman. She said the Auxiliary cleared $1,098.83 which will be used toward providing a new kitchen at the hospital.

The Auxiliary spent $81.27 in staging the public card party while receipts totaled $1,180.10, Mrs. Warren said. She listed a number of donations not previously acknowledged including the following: Col. and Mrs. Edwin Johnson, $5; Times and News Publishing company, $5; George Lazos, $5; anonymous donor, $3, and "a number of $1 and $2 contributions where the donors were not identified."

Rice, Brehm, Martin, Guffey, Livengood And Duff Win Nominations

Colonel John S. Rice and John W. Brehm, both of Gettysburg, win Democratic Nominations for Governor and Congress respectively; first time in town's history two local men received this honor.

Colonel John S. Rice and John W. Brehm, both of Gettysburg, won the Democratic nominations for governor of Pennsylvania and representative in Congress from the York-Adams-Franklin district, respectively, by wide margins in Tuesday's primary voting.

Tuesday's results placed a Gettysburg man in nomination for governor and another for Congress—the first time in the history of the county that the double honor has fallen to this county and the first time the county has ever had a resident nominated for the highest office in the state.

Colonel Rice received 1,230 votes in the county and his opponent, Henry Arthur Morris, of Mahanoy City, received only 69 votes. In 14 of the 42 districts Senator Rice received all of the Democratic votes for governor and carried all of the other districts.

Mr. Brehm, a former Democratic county treasurer, carried all of the 42 voting districts in Adams county and won substantial margins over his opponent, George G. L. Sichelstiel, York, in both York and Franklin counties.

The vote in the Democratic Congressional contest follows by counties:

	Brehm	Sichelstiel
Adams	1,206	91
York	3,906	3,586
Franklin	809	214
Totals	5,921	3,891

Beat "New Guard"

In the voting in state contests, Adams county voters generally helped swell the totals amassed by the candidates in other sections of the state on both the Democratic and Republican tickets.

The Republican organization whipped the self-styled "new guard" slate of Shroyer and Frank by voting with most other Pennsylvanians for James H. Duff for governor and William S. Livengood, Jr., for re-election as secretary of internal affairs.

Governor Edward Martin received more Adams county votes than any other candidate in Tuesday's voting. His column totaled 2,896 while that of his opponent, Mrs. Elizabeth Jordan of Pittsburgh, contained only 256 votes.

In the Republican voting for governor, Duff, the organization candidate, garnered 2,136 votes; Carl E. Mau, Marcus Hook veteran, 85, and John U. Shroyer, "new guard" candidate, 964.

Adams county Republicans helped nominate Col. Daniel B. Strickler, Lancaster, for lieutenant governor over John R. Cadwallader, Meadville, by a vote of 2,269 to 774.

Livengood Wins
William S. Livengood, Jr., was nominated for re-election as secretary of internal affairs by the GOP Tuesday. Adams county gave him 2,307 votes over J. Calvin "Hap" Frank of Harrisburg, who received 778 in this county.

Except for the contest for the gubernatorial nomination, the Democrats had no contests in their balloting for nominees for state offices.

Adams county gave U. S. Senator Joseph P. Guffey 1,126 votes in his campaign for re-election to the Senate. John H. Dent, unopposed for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor, received 1,107 votes in this county and Albert Schmid, blind Philadelphia veteran, was given 1,077 votes in his unopposed race for secretary of internal affairs.

John W. Lucabaugh, Berwick township farmer, received 1,126 complimentary votes in his unopposed campaign for the Democratic nomination for representative in the General Assembly at Harrisburg. He will oppose Assemblyman Francis Worley, the GOP nominee, who was also unopposed Tuesday and was given 2,320 votes.

County Vote Light
Congressman Chester H. Gross, who was handed the Republican nomination for congress from the York-Adams-Franklin district without a contest, garnered 2,869 votes in the unofficial count made Tuesday night.

With the vote one of the lightest cast in Adams county in a number of years, the unofficial tabulation made at the court house as the election board members made their returns was completed shortly after 2 o'clock this morning, an unusually early hour—only five hours after the polls closed.

The first district to report was the second voting district of Hamiltonban township where fewer than

POWER GRABS SEEN AS CAUSE OF DIFFERENCES

By DEWITT MACKENZIE AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

If you would like succinct and clear guidance as to the basis of the serious differences between Russia and Britain on the one hand and America and Britain on the other, you should study the following two paragraphs from Secretary of State Byrnes' report on the Paris meeting of the Big Four foreign ministers:

"Security is the concern of every nation. But the effort of one nation to increase its security may threaten the security of other nations and cause them in turn to try to increase their own security. The quest for security may lead to less rather than more security in the world.

"It is in truth extremely difficult to know to what extent the action of any nation may be ascribed to its quest for security or its desire to expand. But some so-called security moves on the diplomatic checker-board have not contributed to a general sense of security."

Beyond Security

Secretary Byrnes leaves it to us to dot the i's and cross the t's. Still, without trying to read his mind, one finds plenty of light in this brief statement and the situation looks to me about like this:

As the war drew to a close it was obvious that there would have to be many readjustments—some territorial and others in the zones of influence—in order to provide security for all nations. Naturally many of these readjustments were aimed at security against any possible rebirth of German military power, and there was general agreement among the United Nations that such precautions were legitimate. Also because Soviet Russia was emerging as the colossus of the eastern hemisphere it was tacitly conceded that her new status called for widespread changes.

As time has passed there have been differences of opinion among the Big Three as to the exact extent of the realignments necessary for security. Actually there should not be any vast divergence of views, because the needs of security are fairly obvious to experts.

"Push and Reach"

However, as this column has been pointing out, the realignments which had been expected by the world at large were achieved for the most part some time ago. Russia pushed her zones of influence far westward into central Europe and down into the Balkans. Her desire for entrance into the Mediterranean area of the Black also was freely acknowledged as legitimate.

But Moscow has continued to push and reach, thus inevitably creating the question in the minds of the western allies whether the Soviet union was bent on expansion beyond the needs of security. On the other hand, Russia has made it clear that she thinks Britain and the United States are trying to prevent her from achieving her legitimate ambitions.

Now we have arrived at the time when the western allies are calling for a slow-down and a show-down.

Admits Puncturing 6 Automobile Tires

Maurice P. Elicker, 21, York Springs, Tuesday paid fines and costs on charges of damaging parked motor vehicles and disorderly conduct brought by a member of the Gettysburg sub-station of the state police before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder. He pleaded guilty to both charges.

State police said Elicker confessed to puncturing six auto tires with an ice pick early Sunday morning at York Springs. The three cars were parked in front of the home of the owner of two of the cars, Moses Hershey, York Springs. The other vehicle was owned by Walter Reese, Plainfield, N. J., a guest at the Hershey home.

Bees Buzz After Car Hits Truck

Bees were buzzing around by the thousands Monday afternoon when a light truck loaded with bee hives was struck by an automobile in the Mt. Holly Pike a mile south of Carlisle.

The truck, owned by E. H. Sachs, 69, of Biglerville, R. D., a market attendant at Carlisle, and operated by William N. Thomas, 46, of Biglerville, was traveling south. Following was a car operated by Darrill L. Eisenhuth, 26, Coburn. When Thomas attempted to turn left into a township road, Eisenhuth struck the left rear of the machine, state police reported. The truck remained on its wheels but the impact sent the bees buzzing.

Sachs, who was sitting beside the truck driver, suffered a slight laceration of the forehead.

Eisenhuth was charged with driving while under the influence of intoxicants by state police before Justice of the Peace Harry E. Fishel, Bolling Springs.

SCHOOL BOND ISSUE PASSES

Using a special ballot Biglerville on Tuesday approved almost 10 to 1 a proposal to increase the bonded debt of the Biglerville school district by $12,000 to enlarge the now inadequate grade school building. The vote was 147 in favor and 15 against.

L. V. Stock, supervising principal of the Biglerville schools, said this morning the school board will advertise immediately for bids for the erection of a one-story addition of two standard-sized classrooms at the grade school building. He said the school board hopes the work can be completed in time for the opening of the next school term in September.

For the last two years it has been necessary for the school board to rent the former Bucher restaurant quarters, next door to the school building, to house the third grade pupils. The addition will make it possible to accommodate all of the grade school pupils in the school building.

RICE IS GIVEN 4 GOP VOTES

At least four Adams county Republicans felt that Col. John S. Rice, Democratic candidate for governor, would be just as good a candidate for the Republicans.

The four, two in the first ward, first precinct of Gettysburg, and one each in the Gettysburg second ward and New Oxford, wrote in Rice's name on their ballots as Republican gubernatorial candidate.

John H. Bashore, Republican county chairman, almost had a chance to enter the enemy camp more or less legally, when some Cumberland township voter wrote in his name on the Democratic ballot for Democratic State Committee-man.

Francis Worley, who was renamed by the Republicans as their candidate for the state legislature, also got 11 votes in Latimore township for congressman on the Republican ticket.

John W. Brehm, Democratic candidate for congressman polled four written-in votes on the GOP ticket for the same office with all four voters being from the first ward, first precinct of Gettysburg.

HAY DRYER TO BE EXHIBITED

A tour for Adams county farmers interested in seeing a barn hay dryer has been arranged by County Agent M. T. Hartman. It was announced today. Those interested in making the trip are to be at the county agent's office at the court house in time to leave for Chambersburg at 1 o'clock Daylight time, Friday.

Franklin County Agent J. H. Knoke will be in charge of the demonstration to be held at a farm near Chambersburg. The owner of the farm built the dryer, which includes a number of chutes built into the hay mow and a large fan by which air is circulated through the hay.

Barn hay dryers are becoming more and more popular throughout the state. County Agent Hartman said, although he knows of none in Adams county. Those who have the dryers claim that by taking half-cured hay to the barn and completing the drying there better hay is produced. However, he pointed out, certain additional measures must be taken if a hay dryer is used in that the hay must be spread more evenly and thinly so that the air can circulate through it.

Dismiss Fears Of General Price Hike

Washington, May 22 (AP)—Government officials who feared John L. Lewis might scuttle the administration's wage-price policy expressed belief today that federal seizure of the soft coal mines has lessened that possibility.

These officials, who withheld use of their names, told a reporter that since the United Mine Workers' boss now must deal with the government on a wage and welfare fund contract, the odds are against a price-shattering agreement.

They said a coal price increase, averaging perhaps 30 cents a ton or more, is a foregone conclusion. But they do not expect this to touch off a general round of price hikes for consumer goods as did the steel price increase granted in February.

Wasps will go out of their way to attack only when their homes are molested.

SEVEN INJURED

Summers were removed to the Hanover hospital by ambulance. Charles Summers was driven there by John George, who resides near the scene of the crash.

None of the Gettysburg men received medical treatment Tuesday night although Benson was scheduled for examination by a doctor today.

Dean Tilberg, an occupant of the Benson car, said that the car parked on the highway ahead of the Benson vehicle "disappeared within a few seconds after the accident occurred. I saw the car before the crash and I looked around for it as soon as the two cars stopped and the parked car had gone," he told The Gettysburg Times this morning.

To Charge Benson
Benson will be charged before Justice of the Peace Leo Storm on a motor code violation, Deitrich said today, although the exact code violation had not been determined at press time.

Neither car was driving very fast at the time of the accident, police said. When they collided both cars stopped dead and turned sideways to the south of the road without moving east or west.

Summers told police he had been blinded by the lights of the oncoming car and was slowing down and attempting to pull off to the left when the collision occurred.

SAYS ORIGINAL IRAN COMPLAINT STILL ON AGENDA

New York, May 22 (AP)—Hussein Ala, Iranian ambassador to the United States, told the United Nations Security council today that he believed Iran's original complaint of interference by Soviet Russia "is still on the agenda."

By FRANCIS W. CARPENTER

New York, May 22 (AP)—The United States and Great Britain joined today in a demand that the United Nations Security council keep the Iranian case on its agenda until a complete report has been made on the situation in that troubled little country.

Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., U. S. delegate, and Sir Alexander Cadogan, of Great Britain, termed the Iranian report to the council today by May 6 "incomplete" and "not the conclusive evidence that we felt was to be submitted to the council."

Unanswered Questions
Sir Alexander said he would like answers to these questions:

1. What proportion of Iranian territory do the centers investigated represent?
2. Is the Iranian government satisfied with the situation?
3. Has any investigation been made of reports that Soviet forces were left behind dressed in civilian clothes?

Pointing out also that Russia had made no report to the council Cadogan said "we cannot help but look upon the matter with suspicion."

Taking the floor just after the council had heard an Iranian report that all Soviet troops had left Iran by May 6, Stettinius said:

"The Soviet government has made no report and the Iranian government has been unable until today to make a report."

The Iranian report, he said, is "incomplete."

The Security council met without Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet Russian delegate who has served notice he would not discuss the case further in a council session.

SUES MINISTER FOR CHILDREN

West Chester, Pa., May 22 (AP)—A former Philadelphia socialite is suing her ex-father-in-law—the Rev. Henry B. Master of Devon, Pa., once moderator of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church in the U. S. A.—on charges he is restraining the liberties of her two children.

Mrs. Kathryn E. Light, now a resident of Illinois, filed suit in Chester county court yesterday in an effort to regain custody of her son and daughter. She named Dr. Master and his wife, Mrs. Lucy Master, as defendants. Judge W. Butler Windle set June 3 for a hearing.

Mrs. Light told the court in a petition that the children—Henry B. Master, 3rd, 13, and Linda May Master, 11—were children of her first husband, Henry B. Master, Jr. She asserted she surrendered the children, now attending school in New York state, to their paternal grandparents in June, 1944 because she was "ill, distraught and in a very weak condition."

Her petition charges that the grandparents refused to let her see the children.

Dr. Master retired from the clergy in 1938, two years after he served as moderator. He is noted for initiating the service pension plan in Presbyterian churches.

chorus, "My Own America," by Wrubel; "The Nation's Prayer," by Franck, and "Battle Hymn of the Republic," arranged by Warren; selections by the school band, march, "National Emblem," by Bagley; overture, "Pomona," by Holmes; a march, "Gallant Marines," by King; selection, "The Waltz King," by Strauss and "The Star Spangled Banner," by Smith.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, May 22 (AP)—During the past few days entries for the U. S.

Open Golf championship were "coming in like Phillies' pitchers," ac-according to USGA Secretary Joe Dey.

Whether there's a new crop of golfers coming along probably won't be seen until the amateur chamampionship is played. . . A few like

Frank Stranahan and Cary Middle-coff, turned up during and after the war but it may turn out that tournament golf lost five years of development when there was no serious competition.

ONE MINUTE SPORTS PAGE

The word is going around that

Washington and Jefferson college may turn up one of the great footballers in Van Twickler, a big, fast freshman. He pointed W. and J. instead of a bigger school because he is studying for the ministry. . .

Bandleader Fred Waring, who now owns the Shawnee (Pa.) country club, has cooked up a new golf handicapping system based on giving distance instead of strokes.

In his first venture into Alabama politics, Jimmy Hitchcock, former grid captain and coach at Auburn and former pro baseball player, won a post on the Alabama Public Service Commission by a majority of over 10,000. He's a brother of the Detroit Tigers' Billy.

CLEANING THE CUFF

A shortage of bronze will prevent the exhibition of the Turnbull Memorial trophy at the North-South

LaCrosse game but there'll be a plaster cast on hand. That should satisfy LaCrosse players, who usually wear plaster casts on their bones. . . Ed Walsh, Manhattan's

I. C. 4-A indoor mile champ, has been traveling so fast that Coach

George Eastman gives him a good chance to take the outdoor crown

Saturday and adds: "I wouldn't be surprised to see him beat Les Mac-

Mitchell for the A.A.U. title at San Antonio."

Elmira Winner In 11th Inning

Three doubleheaders were scheduled in the Eastern league today after rain washed out all but one of the circuit's contests last night.

In the lone tilt, the Elmira Pioners pushed across the tying run in the ninth inning and added another in the 11th to defeat Wilkes-Barre,

6-5.

The loss dropped the Barons a half-game behind the league leading Scranton Miners.

Hartford also trails the leaders

by a half-game.

In twin bills listed tonight, Albany plays at Utica; Hartford at Binghamton and Williamsport at Scranton.

CANNERS DROP 9-2 BALL TILT

Biglerville high school's baseball team closed its regular season Tuesday afternoon by dropping a 9-2 decision to Bolling Springs on the Biglerville diamond.

Coach Yost's team played 11 games this season, losing twice to Bolling Springs and once each to East Berlin and Hanover.

The Canners, at present half-game in the lead in the Adams

County league, may be forced into a playoff with Littlestown for the title if Littlestown wins its game with Arendtsville at Littlestown this afternoon.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

High Honored in Athletics: Proof that the Gettysburg High school is held in high estimation by larger schools and that the athletic prowess of her teams has brought recognition was furnished when the local institution was admitted as a member of the Central Pennsylvania Interscholastic Basketball league at a meeting of league officials held in Harrisburg Saturday.

The admission of Gettysburg High to the Central Pennsylvania league also marks a triumph for Professor W. D. Reynolds, high school athletic director.

Carlisle Gets Large Army Post: Enlargement of the Field Service school post near Carlisle will be brought about, with the permanent establishment of the school at that place.

Wed in Frederick: Miss Beulah V. Keckler, of Gettysburg, and Mervin B. Bishop, of Freedom township, were married in Frederick at two o'clock Saturday afternoon by Rev. William R. Glen.

They will reside in Freedom township where the bridegroom farms.

Hagerstown Plant Burns: (By Associated Press, Hagerstown, Md., May 16) — Fire of unknown origin late last night destroyed the mixing plant of the Central Chemical company here, causing a loss of about $50,000 to the plant which is covered by insurance.

First Strawberries: Home-grown strawberries made their first appearance of the year on the curb market Tuesday morning when two growers brought in three crates of berries of good quality. There was little difficulty in selling them at forty cents a box. Last year the first strawberries brought fifty cents a basket.

To Close Saturday Noon: The offices in the court house of G. Harry Roth, prothonotary; J. R. Hartman, clerk of the courts; H. E. Smiley, register and recorder; Roy Zinn, treasurer; and George W. Baker, clerk to the commissioners, will close at noon Saturday, May 28, and every Saturday thereafter until the first of October.

Three Town Girls in Play: Three Gettysburg girls are included in the Academy cast which is holding final practices prior to presenting "A Foul Tip" in Brua chapel Saturday night. They are Miss Louise Forrest, Miss Madeline Diehl, and Miss Grace Hartman.

Eleven Graduate from Seminary: Dr. F. G. Gotwald, York, secretary of the educational board of the United Lutheran church in America, delivered the baccalaureate sermon at commencement exercises for the 1921 graduating class of the Lutheran Theological seminary Thursday evening in the College Lutheran church.

Today's Talk

SETBACKS

I know of no one who hasn't had his setbacks—periods of depression, the loss of a job, the wiping out of some determined dream, or who has not come to a period in his life when going on seemed intolerable. I know, in my own life, I have faced many such times, and came to the decision that the only plan was to keep on!

From a clouded sky the light always breaks—for behind the sun is always shining. Setbacks are the lot of us all.

General Grant had them, after returning from the Mexican war, and he was counted as a failure by many. He failed as a small town storekeeper. He entered the civil war in a subordinate position. But he plugged on and kept getting bigger as a soldier and officer, until he was finally recognized by Lincoln who made him his outstanding General.

Lincoln, too, had his long days of depression and even, at one time, contemplated suicide. He was also a failure as a small town storekeeper, was defeated many times in politics, and thought that his public career was at an end, when suddenly he was nominated for the Presidency of the United States. Now the entire world knows of his inspiring story. And history is honey-combed with such examples of failure, discouragement, and final triumph.

Setbacks are character tests. The strong survive—and go on—passing right by failure, in the same manner as the big dog strides on, unnoticing the snaps of lesser dogs who snarl at his feet. Setbacks are actually milestones in the development of a man's intellectual and moral structure. If his heart is right, and his purpose indomitable he will stride on without fear.

Read the story of any great character and you will read of his many setbacks—some of them, at the time, appearing as most tragic and insurmountable. The one inspiring thing about Napoleon was his will to win. "There shall be no Alps!" he said, when they told him that he could not take his armies through the Alps to Italy. We can well emulate his spirit, though not his selfish ambitions.

Setbacks? What kind of characters would we have in this world, and what kind of a world would it be, anyway, without them? Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "A Treasury of Information"

THE MOTE AND THE BEAM

So easy to say what another should do:

The faults of another so plain!

I think when the blunders I've made

I review

I shall never play critic again.

So easy to sneer and to say: "What a fool!"

When tempted my neighbor proves weak;

But I think when I've carelessly broken a rule

No censure of others I'll speak.

I can see very quickly the mote

in the eye

Of stranger or friend when we meet,

But remembering how subject to

folly am I

No phrases of scorn I'll repeat.

They plan to return to the United States this fall when Lieutenant Raffensperger will resume his studies at Gettysburg college. He had completed his junior year when he was called to service in May, 1943.

The couple was married with the double ring ceremony of the Lutheran church in the Roundup Chapel at Frankfurt by Chaplain (Major) Katt in the presence of about 200 friends.

Won Decorations

Preceding the ceremony two baritone solos, "I Love You Truly" and "Because" were sung. The bride wore a gown of white parachute silk made with a fitted bodice and full skirt and a long tulle veil with a high crown. She carried an arm bouquet of white carnations.

Miss Joyce Smith, a friend of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a gown of green silk and carried mixed flowers. 1st Lt. Elmer McKee, of Harrisburg, a classmate and fraternity brother of Lieutenant Raffensperger while both were attending Gettysburg college acted as best man.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Frankfurt Athletic club with music furnished by a band and a large wedding cake was cut. They spent a ten-day wedding trip at Garmisch, a winter sports resort in the Bavarian Alps.

MAY NOT HOLD FAIR THIS YEAR

The South Mountain Fair will probably not be resumed this year. M. E. Knouse, chairman of the Fair committee, made that announcement today in stating that so far the situation in regard to resumption of the fair this year "is extremely discouraging."

Principal difficulty encountered so far is the manpower shortage. Mr. Knouse said, with the labor situation apparently prohibitive of a fair this year. He has queried many of the men who normally would provide the help necessary for successful completion of the fair and most of them could not work there this year, he said.

However, if the fair this year is postponed once more, every effort will be made to stage the county-wide gathering next year, he said. The fair was discontinued several years ago for the duration of the war because travel restrictions and shortage of help.

However one fair is already scheduled for the county with the United Farmers' fair, held annually near Abbottstown, set for August 13 to 17.

Swine Breeders To Conduct Conference

Hampshire swine breeders will conduct the first swine type conference ever held in Pennsylvania on Friday, August 9, at the Pennsylvania State college. The type conference will be combined with a field day and picnic, Merle Tait, Stettlersville, Lehigh county, state association president, announced.

R. L. Pemberton, national secretary of the Hampshire Swine Registry, will be principal speaker on the morning program, which will conclude with a cutting demonstration on a Hampshire carcass.

Committees of Hampshire breeders are selecting top animals of the entire state to be used in the type discussions. Members of the animal husbandry staff of the college will assist in this program.

He was awarded the Bronze Star medal for valor and an Oak Leaf cluster.

CONSIDER NEW BOY SCOUT CAMP

Upper Adams county's Boy Scouts may soon have a top-flight camp located in the mountains near Arendtsville if present plans by a number of persons interested in the scouting movement in the upper community section are successful.

At present only a plan in the mind of several persons interested in the scout movement, the program calls for construction of a cabin and camp site in the mountains above Arendtsville where scouts from Biglerville, Arendtsville, Idaville, Gettysburg and other communities in the Black Walnut district can gather for camporees and similar programs throughout the year.

Interest in the project is growing and its sponsors are hopeful that the plan may be carried out this year.

No camp has been constructed for the Boy Scouts in the district since its establishment years ago although private camps were utilized by individual troops for various activities.

No decision has been reached on the site as yet, although the group backing the project felt that such a decision should be made in the near future. The plan calls for securing a site and then constructing a cabin there as the beginning for a scout camp for scouts of the

Interesting News Of Upper Adams Countians And Their Enterprises

ADAMS 4-H CLUB BOYS AND GIRLS GOING TO CONFAB

While plans for participation by Adams countians have not yet been completed it was understood today that a number of upper county youths would be among the boys and girls from throughout the state who will attend 4-H club week, scheduled for Pennsylvania State college from August 12 to 15. The program will be the first since 1941 when the 4-H club week, along with other such events, was discontinued for the duration of the war.

Featuring the four-day program will be five different judging contests for representatives of 4-H Clubs in agriculture. A corresponding program for girls is planned in homemaker clubs, including exhibits and demonstrations. Judging teams will be made up of three club members.

The judging contests will include one of two divisions in poultry, in which chickens will be judged for breed and for market quality. Other groups will judge dairy animals, swine, and vegetables, with a fifth classification of livestock in which contestants will demonstrate their skill in selecting winners in swine, horses, beef cattle, and sheep.

Expect 1,200 As in former club weeks, educational features will be emphasized, and in addition attractive recreational activities are scheduled, including games and tours about the college campus, while evening programs of speaking and entertainment promise to give the whole program an inspirational appeal.

Because of limited facilities, attendance will be limited to about 1,200 boys and girls and representation from the various counties will be on a proportionate basis determined by the 1945 4-H club enrollment.

In making a preliminary announcement of Club Week, Allen L. Baker, state club leader, whose staff at the Pennsylvania State College will be in charge, estimated that perhaps as many as 50 counties will participate.

FARM CALENDAR

Good Emergency Pasture — About the only grass seeded in the spring that will give much pasture the same year, sudan grass can be seeded May 15 to June 1 and should be up a foot to 18 inches by mid-July. By seeding clover and other grass with the sudan grass, a permanent pasture can be started for use the following year.

Planning Saves Labor — By storing the new hay crop at the most convenient location in relation to subsequent handling requirements, farmers will be able to save much time and effort, Monroe J. Arme, extension farm management specialist of the Pennsylvania State college, points out.

Chickens Like Clover — An established sod of Ladino clover, or clover and bluegrass, provides ideal pasture for poultry, but it should be clipped frequently to help keep the soil dry.

Check Milking Machines — Regular lubrications with the proper grease and oil together with daily checks on pulsation rates and vacuum are suggested by I. E. Parkin, Penn State extension dairy specialist, to keep the milking machines in good working order.

Switch to Young Gilts — Because young gilts consume less feed and still produce about the same number of pigs, L. C. Madison, extension livestock specialist at the Pennsylvania State college, suggests that they replace the old brood sows.

Plan Ahead for Lawn — By including arrangements for the lawn in the new house plans a satisfactory sod can be established at a minimum cost, says Albert E. Cooper, Penn State extension agronomist.

Avoid Too-Early Weaning — The bigger the pigs at weaning time the less feed required per pound of gain from then on until they reach market weight, informs L. C. Madison, extension livestock specialist of the Pennsylvania State college, who declares that saving feed on the brood sow by early weaning is poor economy. Leave the pigs with the sow at least eight weeks.

Start Strawberries Now — New strawberry plants started at this time should be well fertilized and be cultivated frequently and thoroughly, but at shallow depths, for maximum yield in 1947.

Study Farm Chores — By a careful examination of farm chore methods procedures often can be revised to save miles of walking and much needless effort.

Culling Takes Little Time — Reminding of the need for a good culling job in a feed scarcity period, F. H. Leuschner, Penn State extension poultry specialist, says hens off production can be singled out at night with the aid of a light, or by using a catching hook during the day.

Of more than 140,000 Pennsylvania farms operated by owners, 85,855 were free from mortgage debt in 1940.

Arendtsville Pupils Enjoy Special Course In Nutrition

Eggs are not only nutritious but delicious decide the youngsters of the second grade at the Arendtsville schools, particularly if you prepare them yourselves.

The boys and girls shown above are students who took part in the special five-period nutrition course sponsored by the Adams county Red Cross and carried out by Miss Carolyn Lowe, home economics instructor at Arendtsville Vocational school, and Miss Evelyn P. Orner, second grade instructor.

The youngsters, in their final class, broke open the eggs, scrambled them and then ate them, as part of their lesson in eating the right kinds of foods.

Senior and junior students from the home economics class took part as assistant instructresses for the grade school youngsters. Among the high school girls were Janet Pittzer, Mary Jane Kimple, Mary Mickle, Mary Hall, Mary Allee Dillon, Cecilia Knouse and Beryl Taylor.

The second graders taking the course included Dorothy Hykes, Patricia Ann Walter, Joan Staub, Nellie Kane, Dorothy Jane Wiser, Russell Bolen, Donald Flickinger and John Stiner.

During their course the youngsters studied about eggs, fruits, cereals, and all the other foods that go together to make a "100 per cent" breakfast. They even set up a "store" at the school and went to buy things in order to learn what they should buy in order to get all the necessary vitamins, proteins, carbohydrates and all the other needs of the human body.

grower inspects his plantation regularly every few days after plants come into foliage. When symptoms of any suspected diseases are found, the diseased plant is removed at once and burned to prevent spread of the trouble to nearby healthy specimens. In fact, roguing is the major key to successful growing of bramble fruits.

Of course, it is important that the grower recognize the chief symptoms of common diseases. The first disease to merit such knowledge is mosaic. All brambles are susceptible to mosaic, although dewberries are rarely affected. Red raspberries are most severely infected, with black raspberries second. The first symptoms are dark green blister-like forms rising on the younger leaves, with other parts of the stricken leaf showing yellowish or lighter green coloring. There is a tendency for stems to become shorter and more spindly and the leaves to take on a curled or rosette appearance. Besides prompt and complete roguing out of mosaic-infected plants, growers should not plant black raspberries with 200 feet of red varieties.

Anthraxnose is commonly found on black raspberries and also on blackberries and dewberries. Small, purple-bordered lesions occur on the upper leaf surfaces and occasionally on the midribs and leaf stems. The disease is seen on the canes as small purple, slightly raised spots with sunken fissures through their centers. Stems may be dwarfed. The condition known as Grey Bark is usually found on red raspberry plants affected with anthraxnose. Premature ripening and withering of the fruits are indications of this disease on blackberries and dewberries, along with symptoms already described. Some varieties of brambles are proving resistant or immune to anthracnose. Rogue out and burn diseased plants and buy new plants from sources which guarantee freedom from the infection.

Leaf curl affects mainly red and black raspberries. The smaller leaflets pucker and their edges turn downward, with the leaf tip noticeably bent. This disease is distinguished from mosaic symptoms by absence of green and yellow coloring. Too, there is a decided stunting or dwarfing of laterals. Roguing is the only effective means of control, as sprays are ineffective.

Streak affects blackberries and black raspberries in almost all cases. The disease is so named because purplish streaks occur on the younger canes, the streaks about as wide as a heavy pencil mark. Prompt and thorough roguing is the only safe course in curbing streak outbreaks, although insects may carry the infection and thus warrant early control. Plant lice are especially guilty of this. Spraying with nicotine sulphate in soapy water as soon as plant lice appear is recommended.

In all cases of bramble diseases growers should write the editor at once when they are not certain of the trouble. Keeping diseases below the 10-percent mark among bramble fruit plants is a sound goal toward which to aim.

Some Facts About Sudan Grass

Sudan grass occupies a unique and occasionally an indispensable place in farm plans and practices. It is probably the best drought-resistant grass among the non-legumes. It is easy and economical to grow and offers a sound insurance bridge across the probable dry weeks which often render permanent pastures almost worthless in mid-summer, yet its usefulness ends with the first frost of autumn but not before regular pastures have regained their normal vigor. Every farmer should grow at least a few acres of Sudan grass as a safety bulwark against the ever-recurrent dangers of drought.

Sudan grass is an annual. This means it must be sown every year and does not live over winter. It thrives on a wider range of soil types than do most other emergency pasture plants. And under favorable weather conditions, such as usually prevail from mid-May until early July, it is ready to pasture within four weeks after seeding.

When properly managed, this grass will maintain one unit of livestock per acre, a cow being the accepted measuring unit. Both extremes of grazing should be avoided — the grass should not be overgrazed, else the crowns will be injured and subsequent growth prevented; and on the other hand the plants should not be allowed to grow tall and woody. Rotation grazing is recommended, made possible by fencing the field into two or three equal plots and moving livestock from one to another of the areas to permit grazed plots to regain top growth before being pastured again. This progressive principle of pasture management merits employment on all kinds and types of pasture and doubly on Sudan grass.

Many farmers hesitate to grow this grass because they have heard about animals suffering from Sudan grass poisoning. But despite the truth of such reports, the danger is easily eliminated. Only drought-killed or frost nipped Sudan grass is poisonous, with cases of the first cited rare. Therefore, livestock owners should simply cease pasturing Sudan grass before frost arrives and thereafter allow the plants to attain heavy growth for plowing under as a green manure crop.

Hogs, beef cattle, sheep, cows and horses relish this grass, particularly after permanent pastures become scant and the grass tough and unpalatable with the advent of hot, dry weather. And then, requiring heavy grazing to keep it succulent and being resistant to drought, Sudan grass fills its most useful role.

And while the grass thrives on a wide range of soil types, it should not be seeded on wet, poorly drained soil. Fair fertility and a soil otherwise suitable for corn, wheat and other grains are the main points to remember in selecting sites. Acid phosphate is perhaps the chief plant food demanded on poorer soils.

Do not sow Sudan grass until the soil is warm—so urge experienced growers. Then it should be seeded any time before July at the rate of 20 to 25 pounds of seed per acre.

The grass should be planned so it is ready to pasture by the time dry weather begins to retard permanent pastures. Of course, as already suggested, it must be grazed down soon or it will become coarse and woody.

Farmers with questions to ask about this or other emergency pasture crops should write the editor for needed information and advice before their May tasks interfere.

Roguing Diseased Brambles

Dictionaries define the word "roguing" as weeding out plants not up to standards of desired quality. In recent years growers of cultivated blackberries, raspberries and dewberries have learned that roguing is a vital practice in keeping these plants free from at least four troublesome diseases and may even be employed to reduce certain insect enemies.

The operation is simple. First, the

DIM HOPES FOR SETTLEMENT OF RAILROAD FUSS

Washington, May 22 (AP)—Railroad Brotherhoods said today they had submitted to the government a "final proposition" for settlement of the rail strike and may confer during the day with President Truman.

By NORMAN WALKER

Washington, May 22 (AP)—Prospects slumped today for any settlement in the railroad labor dispute before the five-day strike runs out tomorrow afternoon.

President Truman's own mediator in the case, John R. Steelman, said the "situation doesn't look too good" and the disputing carriers and brotherhoods seemed to share that view, discarding their guarded optimism of only 24 hours earlier.

Negotiators said solution of the dispute would be relatively simple if only wages were at issue. One of the carrier spokesmen described brotherhood demands for changes in 45 working rules as "by far the most troublesome feature in the whole picture."

Pay For Uniforms

Working rules are the stipulated conditions under which railmen perform their duties. Among changes proposed by Brotherhoods of Locomotive Engineers and Trainmen are that carriers pay for all uniforms and reimburse men for time lost during depot and switching delays and stopovers.

The carriers estimate the proposed rules changes would cost them $800,000,000 a year. They have agreed to pay the 16-cent hourly increase for all their 1,400,000 workers as recommended by fact-finding boards, functioning under the Railway Labor law. They estimate this would cost them $619,000,000.

The brotherhoods, however, demand an 18 per cent wage boost, with a $1.44 daily minimum increase. The carriers calculate this will amount to a 20-cent hourly increase per man and cost them about $775,000,000.

"Awfully Forlorn"

Steelman told reporters he still was trying to work out a compromise between the brotherhoods' demands and the fact-finding recommendations. In this he reported making "perhaps a little progress" but "not much."

Presidents A. F. Whitney of the trainmen and Alvanley Johnston of the Locomotive Engineers said in a statement "we hope we are making progress toward a settlement," but a carrier spokesman commented privately "it looks awfully forlorn to me; these fellows are adamant."

The government appeared to have little hope of winning an extension of the five-day truce, arranged by President Truman Saturday, a day after he seized the railroads and placed them under government operation.
